

Position Information
Employer:	US Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) [view profile]
Division:	N/A
Title:	Field Economist
Description:	This position is located in the Economic and Market Analysis section of the Field/Regional Office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development under the direction of Policy Development and Research (PD&R) Office of Economic Affairs. As a HUD Field Economist, the incumbent will provide staff assistance to the HUD Senior Economist in the office in which the position is located. The core functions include: providing economic intelligence and analysis necessary for field office program operating strategies and decisions; making feasibility determinations for housing proposals; participating in research and evaluation efforts to help link program design and implementation efforts; providing advice to field office management on the optimal allocation of program resources; and providing technical support on housing and community development issues to other government agencies, HUD clients, and the general public. This is an opportunity notice for a two-year training program under the Federal Career Intern Program in various Program Areas within the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Throughout the career-internship, you will participate in a formal training program and job assignments to develop competencies applicable to HUD's mission and needs. Upon successful completion of the career-internship, you will be eligible for non-competitive conversion to a permanent appointment.
Location:	Location City: Washington State: District of Columbia Country : United States
Position Type:	Full Time
Desired Major(s):	Family and Consumer Sciences/Undergraduate Majors/Consumer Economics (B.S.F.C.S.), Business/Undergraduate Majors/Economics (B.B.A.), Arts and Sciences/Undergraduate Majors/Economics (A.B.), Agricultural and Environmental Sciences/Undergraduate Majors/Agricultural Economics (B.S.A.)
Desired Class Level(s):	Senior, Graduate Student, Alumnus, MBA, MBA Alumnus
Work Authorization:	US Citizen
Salary Level:	$30,808 - $51,809 based on education / experience
Job Function:	Adminstration, Business Operations, Financial Services, Government, Management, Public Administration/Policy, Real Estate
Approximate Hours Per	40 Hours per week

Week:
Qualifications:	1. Degree: economics, that included at least 21 semester hours in economics and 3 semester hours in statistics, accounting, or calculus. OR 2. Combination of education and experience--courses equivalent to a major in economics, as shown in A above, plus appropriate experience or additional education.

Position Information
Employer:	US Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) [view profile]
Division:	N/A
Title:	Field Economist
Description:	This position is located in the Economic and Market Analysis section of the Field/Regional Office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development under the direction of Policy Development and Research (PD&R) Office of Economic Affairs. As a HUD Field Economist, the incumbent will provide staff assistance to the HUD Senior Economist in the office in which the position is located. The core functions include: providing economic intelligence and analysis necessary for field office program operating strategies and decisions; making feasibility determinations for housing proposals; participating in research and evaluation efforts to help link program design and implementation efforts; providing advice to field office management on the optimal allocation of program resources; and providing technical support on housing and community development issues to other government agencies, HUD clients, and the general public. This is an opportunity notice for a two-year training program under the Federal Career Intern Program in various Program Areas within the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Throughout the career-internship, you will participate in a formal training program and job assignments to develop competencies applicable to HUD's mission and needs. Upon successful completion of the career-internship, you will be eligible for non-competitive conversion to a permanent appointment.
Location:	Location City: Washington State: District of Columbia Country: United States
Position Type:	Full Time

Desired Major(s):	Family and Consumer Sciences/Undergraduate Majors/Consumer Economics (B.S.F.C.S.), Business/Undergraduate Majors/Economics (B.B.A.), Arts and Sciences/Undergraduate Majors/Economics (A.B.), Agricultural and Environmental Sciences/Undergraduate Majors/Agricultural Economics (B.S.A.)
Desired Class Level(s):	Senior, Graduate Student, Alumnus, MBA, MBA Alumnus
Work Authorization:	US Citizen
Salary Level:	$30,808 - $51,809 based on education / experience
Job Function:	Administration, Business Operations, Financial Services, Government, Management, Public Administration/Policy, Real Estate
Approximate Hours Per Week:	40 Hours per week
Qualifications:	1. Degree: economics, that included at least 21 semester hours in economics and 3 semester hours in statistics, accounting, or calculus. OR 2. Combination of education and experience--courses equivalent to a major in economics, as shown in A above, plus appropriate experience or additional education.