Want an interesting Elective?
Leisure in a Diverse Society
(RLST 2000)

The purpose of this course is to enhance students’ understanding of leisure in contemporary society. Approaching leisure as a window into culture, students will examine factors that influence leisure, understand how leisure mirrors broader cultural values, and learn ways to use leisure to expand their own cultural understandings.

We will address topics such as the overworked American, athletic consumerism, obesity and fast-food, beach culture, gambling, television viewing, youth vandalism, detective fiction, flea-market culture, mealtime, and much more.

- Fall, 2008  Call # 90602
- Thursday’s 12:30–1:45, Ramsey Center 224
- Open to all university students
- Experience Based Learning Opportunities
- Hands on projects and/or Undergraduate Research

Instructed by Nic Holt
nicholt@uga.edu
Call # 90-602