Strongly Suggested Calculator: Texas Instruments BA II Plus (Standard or Professional models) financial calculator. Programmable calculators are not allowed.

Evaluation: The course grade will be determined by three examinations assigned the following weights:

Midterm One	32%	Wednesday, July 15 th
Midterm Two	32%	Wednesday, July 22 nd
Final Exam	36%	Friday, July 31 th

Final: Since many of the ideas we are going to cover build on one another the final will be cumulative.

Policies Concerning Grades: Since all grades are determined competitively it is crucial to maintain a fair and level playing field. The following policies are designed and strictly enforced in order to insure that no one student has or gets an advantage over the other students against whom they are competing.

G1. The target percentages for the final letter grades are as follows:

	Percentile Range
A: 25%	0 to 25.0
B: 35%	25.1 to 60.0
C: 25%	60.1 to 85
D: 10%	85.1 to 95
F: 5%	95.1 to 100

G2. There are no targets set for plus/minuses.

G3. Prior to the final exam I will post your raw exam score and your cumulative percentile score. It is the cumulative percentile score that is used to calculate grades. It reflects your overall performance rank in the class.

It is the percentage of your peers who have performed better than you so far. For example, if your percentile score is 11% it means that 11% of the students have performed better than you have and 89% are doing the same or worse. The percentile score allows you to readily identify your approximate whole letter grade.

G4. Your “peers” are defined as those students enrolled in this section of FINA3000.

G5. As students drop or withdraw your peers change, your relative performance may change and so may your grade. Do not ask me to speculate as to the impact drops will have on grades because I do not know.

G6. Your grades are determined solely by your performance relative to your peers on the three exams.

G7. All exam scores count in the percentages stated. No grades are dropped.

G8. There are no make-ups.

G9. There is no extra credit available. There is nothing extra you can do at any time to change your letter grade other than performing better on the remaining exams.

G10. If you miss a midterm due to a serious illness you must have written documentation from a physician. Since there are no make-ups additional weight will be put on the final.

G11. Medical conditions without written documentation are irrelevant. No consideration will be given to a student who claims any illness without written documentation.

G12. If you miss a midterm for a University of Georgia sanctioned varsity athletic event for which I had prior knowledge additional weight will be put on the final.

G13. If you have a sudden death in the family that may prevent you from attending an exam you must provide the following information to me:

1. Name of the deceased.
2. The state and town in which the deceased resided.
3. Your relation to the deceased.
4. The name, address, and phone number of the funeral home handling the final arrangements.
5. A copy of the obituary.
6. The phone number for a contact person listed in the obituary.

After verifying your information you will be assigned an excused absence for the exam and your final will be re-weighted. If you fail to provide all of the information within one week of the exam date you will be assigned a zero for the exam. If the death prevents you from attending the final exam session you will be assigned an incomplete. You may complete the course by taking a three hour exam at a time to be mutually agreed-upon.

G14. The exam dates and times are set. If you know now that there will be a conflict you have two choices.

- a. Drop the class.
- b. Explain to me in person the nature of your conflict. If I agree that it warrants an excused absence from the exam I will re-weight your final exam.

G15. Once you take an exam the score will count for the full assigned percentage of your grade. After the fact claims of illness, sleep deprivation, conflicts with work, conflicts with sports, conflicts with family, and excuses of any sort will not be considered.

G16. If you start an exam and have a sudden illness or emergency you will not be allowed to complete the remainder of the exam at a later date. Whatever score you get on the incomplete exam counts toward your final grade. Your final exam will not be re-weighted should you be unable to complete a midterm.

G17. Facts such as your scholarship status, timeline for graduating, participation in athletics, or any other particular facts of your life you think are important and bear special consideration with respect to grades are irrelevant. Your grade will be determined solely by your performance relative to your peers.

G18. No special considerations with respect to grades are ever provided to any student ever.

G19. Do not ask me what you will need to get on exam “X” to improve grade “Y” to grade “Z”. This would require me to know in advance what your performance will be in the future relative to your peers. As I do not have a crystal ball I cannot answer these questions. All I can say is the following; if your overall performance relative to your peers improves your grade will stay the same or improve. If your overall performance relative to your peers falls your grade will stay the same or decline.

G20. Plusses and minuses are not assigned until after the final exam. Do not contact me concerning what plus or minus grade you might have going into the final as I do not know.

G21. Attendance is not considered in the calculation of grades.

Honor Code: All academic work must meet the standards contained in “A Culture of Honesty.” All students are responsible to inform themselves about those standards before performing any academic work. All students are expected to abide by the University Honor Code as found in A Culture of Honest, which includes the following statement:

The University of Georgia seeks to promote and ensure academic honesty and personal integrity among students and other members of the University community. A policy on academic honesty (and procedural guidelines for adjudication of alleged violations of academic honesty) has been developed to serve these goals. Academic honesty means performing all academic work without plagiarizing, cheating, lying, tampering, stealing, receiving assistance from any other person or using any source of information that is not common knowledge (unless that assistance or use is authorized by the person responsible for supervising that academic work or fairly attributed to the source of assistance or information).

ANY violation will be reported to the Office of Academic Affairs.

Attendance: Attendance is not required for FINA 3000. However, students are responsible for all material covered in class, and all changes that are made in course content during class. Students are expected to read the selected chapters before lecture.

Drops:	July 7 th	Last day to drop the class without a “W”
	July 21 st	Last day to withdraw from the class with a “W” (withdraw while passing) or “WF” (withdraw while failing). Determination of the “W” or “WF” will be based on your performance on Midterm One.

Academic Accommodations: If you would like to request academic accommodations due to a disability please contact The Disability Resource Center, 114 Clark Howell Hall, 706-542-8719 voice, 706-542-7719 fax, or 706-542-8778 tty. If you have a letter from Disability Services indicating you have a documented disability that requires academic accommodations, please present the letter to me in person as early as possible so we can discuss the accommodations you might need for class. If we do not meet in person to go over the “blue” form two days prior to the exam you will not be assigned any accommodation for the exam.
